Message from SCIP's Founders

Miguel Mancebo
Co-Founder & CEO

Monica Mancebo
Co-Founder & President

These are the words that truly sum up the core belief of SCIP; To enlighten, employ, and empower underserved youth in our community. For the last twenty years, SCIP participants have found caring mentors in the business community who allow them to have real-life experience in the business world. The knowledge and skills that the SCIP participants come away with are invaluable: they are young minds who are equipped to succeed in the business world with confidence. We are delighted that our SCIP alumni come back each year to teach and inspire others to reach out to their community as well. We have, in fact, become a family that has supported one another to become the successful business leaders and entrepreneurs of tomorrow. SCIP encourages its participants to find solutions and to make a difference in their communities. With our Alumni coming back to serve as inspiration to our new participants, they are truly "giving back" to their community. SCIP enlightens and empowers its participants to take their dreams and make them a reality. We have seen our young leaders take ideas that might be "out of reach" and indeed make them come true, simply by working hard and believing in themselves. They have inspired us to reach for our dreams as well. We wish to express our deepest gratitude to everyone for joining us today. We hope you will take a moment to meet with the young leaders and alumni this evening. They have learned a great deal from you, and we hope they have inspired you as well. Your support means a great deal to us, and we look forward to your continued participation in the program.

"Excellence is the result of caring more than others think is wise. Risking more than others think is safe. Dreaming more than others think is practical and expecting more than others think is possible."

SCIP Overview

Selective Corporate Internship Program (SCIP), a 501 (c)(3) non-profit, tax exempt organization was founded in 1997 by Monica and Miguel Mancebo to provide intensive business environment training to talented students from New York City and New Jersey. This intensive leadership program incorporates training, professional development to a diverse group of highly motivated and goal oriented high school and college students with an interest in becoming business leaders and entrepreneurs.

SCIP, is the brainchild of the Mancebos, it was established to provide a growth module for students in high school and college to have access to the “movers and shakers” in the corporate arena and to have wide range of future options. As part of their ongoing community-oriented endeavors, the Mancebos wanted to give these students who would not be able to connect to these leaders on their own, direct access to corporate professionals and business owners who could share their experiences and insights.

Partnering For The Future

Success to Monica and Miguel Mancebo is more than a healthy bottom line. Their definition of success includes paving the way and opening doors for deserving young people. The Mancebos were aware of the lack of opportunity for young people whose backgrounds and education might not normally allow them to consider a career in the corporate world. This led to a plan to link deserving high school students from ethnically diverse backgrounds with corporate leaders, which seventeen years ago resulted in the creation of SCIP. SCIP's interns are exposed to global business environment, trained in appropriate corporate communications, and coached in office protocol. Mentors provide interns with motivation and guidance to help them develop a strong work ethic, as well as enabling them to identify and take advantage of future opportunities. The Mancebos dedication inspires their Fortune 500 clients to welcome and provide advanced training to these outstanding interns, establishing a win-win situation for both the interns and the corporation. SCIP builds on today's strategies for success to create tomorrow's leaders.

Total Immersion Internships

During the SCIP fast track leadership program, young leaders are provided with an opportunity to learn about the corporate world. Interns interact with executives from leading companies, sharpened their technical and writing skills and participate in weekly workshops. The Interns work closely with corporate mentors, who make themselves available to answer questions, offer guidance, and assist in preparing them for the business world. Giving hope, training, and support are critical components of the SCIP methodology. Once they have completed the program, the interns possess marketable skills, a mature work ethic, and the technical training needed to succeed in a professional environment. The growing SCIP Alumni Association continues to mentor participants during and after college. SCIP Alumni are aided in identifying educational and employment opportunities, and given the support to pursue them. SCIP Career Resource Division, founded in 1998 as part of the Alumni program, provides a continuum of work experience, college application workshops, and mentoring support for interns once they conclude the SCIP Program. It provides SCIP alumni with the means to receive ongoing hands-on personal attention and business training, further enforcing the principles of community outreach and enlightenment. SCIP Alumni have access to internships and full-time opportunities.

Measuring Success

Dedicated to developing future business leaders, the Selective Corporate Internship Program (SCIP) has been lauded by the corporate community as an example of good corporate citizenship. This commitment to the community is the foundation of SCIP's corporate philosophy. SCIP Alumni have successfully entered the colleges of their choice and continue working, learning and growing. Their success one intern at a time.

Partnership of the Year Honoree

Claes Nobel

Co-Founder, NSHSS and Chairman, NSHSS Board of Advisors The National Society of High School Scholars

Nobel is a native of Sweden and senior member of the family that established the Nobel Prizes. He has now become a United States citizen, holding dual citizenship in the U.S. and Sweden. A passionate proponent of humanitarian and environmental causes, he has worked tirelessly in his mission to help save the planet and its people. In 1974 he drafted "The Nobel Laureates Declaration on the Survival of Mankind," signed by 78 Nobel Laureates advocating support for environmental protection and humanitarian leadership.

In 1985 Mr. Nobel wrote the "Global Declaration of Earth Ethics," the basis for the NGO not-for-profit organization United Earth, which he founded in order to focus attention on environmental issues through the prestigious Earth Prize Awards. Mr. Nobel continues to advise prominent spiritual, political, and economic leaders from around the globe on preserving the earth and preserving peace, as well as working to help instill these ideals in youth through education and example.

Mr. Nobel received an honorary doctorate in Humane Letters from Virginia State University and was selected for the 2012 Service Legacy Award from Usher's New Look Foundation.

"For more than 100 years my family name has been recognized as a hallmark of peace and excellence. While it is an honor and privilege to recognize the greatest scientists, poets, statesmen, and philosophers among us, there is a special place in my heart for encouraging and recognizing the youth of the world. This is why I helped found the National Society of High School Scholars and why I continue to devote my time and abilities to this distinguished organization." - Claes Nobel

Partnership of the Year Honoree

James W. Lewis

President of the National Society of High School Scholars (NSHSS)

In 2015, James was named a Top 10 Diversity Champion by The Global Diversity List, supported by The Economist. James' vision for diversity and inclusion and international education is reflected in NSHSS' partnerships with world-class educational and leadership programs from around the globe. NSHSS has university partners that provide scholarships, host member events and offer academic and leadership programs to NSHSS members. The Society also partners with the Central Intelligence Agency, U.S. Department of State and many outstanding Fortune 500 companies. His constant pursuit of more opportunities for minority and underrepresented students led him to establish the NSHSS Foundation, which offers donor-directed scholarships and focuses on STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics), Business, Finance, and Public Policy. Through special programs, the NSHSS Foundation connects students with additional opportunities to advance their education, personal growth and career interests. The NSHSS Foundation offers donor directed scholarships targeting underrepresented minorities that otherwise would not have the opportunity to take that leap forward to continue their education.

When Claes Nobel, of the Nobel family, reflects on his personal friend, James Lewis, he is reminded of a famous quote by Emerson: "To laugh often and much; to win the respect of intelligent people and the affection of children; to earn the appreciation of honest critics and to endure the betrayal of false friends. To appreciate beauty; to find the best in others; to leave the world a bit better whether by a healthy child, a garden patch, or a redeemed social condition; to know that even one life has breathed easier because you have lived. This is to have succeeded."

Rising Stars Ambassadors: Where Are They Now?

Wilbert Davis

Hofstra University Class of 2020

SCIP Alumni of Class of 2014

I interned at SCIP (Selective Corporate Internship Program) for three years. The first year I was a young leader before being promoted to team leader in year two. My responsibilities for my first year included creating and designing the annual journal as part of the journal team. In my second year my responsibilities grew to working with all five SCIP teams, and managing all of the work and assessments. During my third year, I helped run the SCIP program, working multiple fundraising events, creating agendas and planning each day. SCIP helped me grow into a hard worker, understand how others rely on you when you take on responsibilities and to utilize my critical thinking skills to solve different issues and complex problems.

SCIP created opportunities I never imagine I would ever achieve. While interning at SCIP, I became one out of 30 peer leaders at my high school responsible for helping the Freshman class to transition from middle school to college. I was confident and composed during the interview process as well as executing my peer leader role responsibilities as my SCIP leadership training paid off.

The transition from high school to my first semester at Hofstra University was smooth. I had the confidence to join organizations such as the Hofstra Chronicle, NAACP, and the Young Democrats. Because of the work culture of SCIP, I understood how to multitask including studying and participating in different campus organizations at the same time. I made the Dean's list my first semester at Hofstra. In addition, due to my academic achievement, Hofstra invited me to join its Honor's College.

I am grateful that I was able to transfer my SCIP training into high energy, enthusiasm and passion for learning as well as the ability to set myself apart during my brief college career.

Andre Carty
Georgetown College 2016
SCIP Alumni of Class of 2012

To say that SCIP left an indelible mark on my development into a young man would be an understatement. SCIP took a mind once unsure of its role in the world and gave it the resources, confidence and initiative it needed to realize its true potential: that of a leader. I recall entering the confines of SCIP's Madison avenue offices as an uninspired 17 year old. Four years removed and my progress as an individual is undeniably linked to what I learned about myself during those fateful, often strenuous summers as a Team Leader and then Intern Manager. Having had the opportunity to attend Georgetown College (Ky) via SCIP (and working to become a Tiger graduate in 2016!), I have become enamored by Kentucky's beauty and am considering starting a professional career in the Bluegrass state. To Monica and Miguel Mancebo and SCIP's sponsors, who both have invested not in a program but in the idea that they can contribute to the development of next generation's leaders, I owe an immense debt of gratitude and an emphatic thank you! Your generosity will not go unheeded.
