

Week In Review No. 4

July 25-28, 2016

Order in the Court

SCIP joins Honorable Judge Esther Salas in her private chambers and the Young Leaders view her in action.

Last Day at Credit Suisse

Several employees from Credit Suisse join the Young Leaders and provide assistance on interview skills and resume writing.

Juggling Life with Jen Slaw

Jen Slaw creates a connection between juggling and life.

Exploring Mitchell Titus

SCIP takes on Mitchell Titus and networks with the panelists to gain insight into the accounting field.

ORDER IN THE COURT

Written by Tamar Razmadze

Photographs by Angie Feng and Ravin Harduarsingh

The cool, air-conditioned Newark Federal Courthouse was true salvation for the young SCIP members on Monday, July 25th; however, it was not the temperature that really captivated the young leaders. The Honorable Judge Esther Salas graciously invited the SCIP team to sit-in two real court cases, spoke to and motivated the young leaders, and gave a grand tour of the super posh courthouse. This experience was a first to many of the young leaders, and they were flabbergasted by the conduct and superb execution by Judge Esther Salas. Not only was she the first Latina to become a U.S. Magistrate Judge for the District of New Jersey, but also the first Latina on the District Court of New Jersey. Faced with adversity early in her life, Esther Salas told the young leaders that hardship is only temporary, and that we must make lemonade out of the lemons thrown our way. The majority of the SCIP team is composed of females, and they found her story truly inspiring and commended her huge success; hoping to also add strong female presences in their respective career paths. The chambers were beautiful, and we could see why Judge Salas would want to spend time at her chambers! Overall, the experience was truly amazing, and we cannot wait to go back and view Judge Esther Salas in action.

“Push yourself to
be the greatest.”

- Honorable Judge Esther Salas

Last Day at Credit Suisse

Written by Tamar Razmadze

Photographs by Angie Feng, Wilbert Davis, and Ravin Harduarsingh

Week four for the Young Leaders was a time for learning and augmenting their business expertise. Several employees at Credit Suisse aided the young leaders by helping them with their interview skills, and revising their resumes. Lorina Pennerman, Avery Wong, Dora Abreu, Edmund Taylor, and Kenneth Burnett took time out of their busy schedules, and really helped the young leaders become more knowledgeable about the interview process, first impressions, presentation, and proper resumes. These are invaluable skills that we will always develop and implement in our career paths. On a sad note, our time at Credit Suisse has come to an end, and we would like to give a huge thanks to Dora Abreu for hosting us, and we truly appreciate you teaching us vital skills for success in the work world. We would love to be back and attain more insight from you in the future. Thanks Ms. Abreu!

Juggling Life with Jen Slaw

Written by Jeffrey Geller

Photographs by Angie Feng, Wilbert Davis, and Ravin Harduarsingh

With a quite massive suitcase in hand, Jen Slaw's smile lit up the whole room even before she revealed her brightly-colored juggling balls. The Young Leaders were instantly enticed to see these peculiar objects, since they were used to flash drives and presentations. Following a brief introduction, Jen Slaw began to create professional jugglers out of the young leaders. Leaders were divided into groups and performed a series of exercises to develop their juggling skills. Frustration and giggles permeated the room until the leaders were called back to the table. Jen Slaw made a direct correlation between juggling and life, using juggling as a metaphor for life itself. Little did the young leaders know, there is a more profound message behind juggling colorful balls. Slaw proved that juggling teaches invaluable lessons of persistence, concentration and multi-tasking, also mentioning that recent research identified that juggling boosts long term memory capability, cognitive understanding, and hand-eye coordination.

Exploring Mitchell Titus

Written by Jeffrey Geller

Photographs by Angie Feng, Wilbert Davis, and Ravin Harduarsingh

Wednesday was an interesting day for the SCIP family as they visited the American Indian Museum. The Young leaders were captivated with the artifacts that were showcased in the exhibits as well as the sleek, glossy museum interior. After the museum visit, the SCIP family commuted to Mitchell Titus. Hosting us for the day, Mitchell Titus employees introduced themselves and gave insight on the accounting field. Employees also shared their backgrounds and how they reached their position today. The SCIP family was treated with lunch and received the opportunity to network.

Castle Fitzjohn Art Gallery

Written by Angie Feng and Vicki Wong

Photographs by Angie Feng, Wilbert Davis, and Ravin Harduarsingh

The modern contemporary art gallery on Orchard Street was a beautiful event space for SCIP to take the opportunity to spread their message. Miguel and Monica Mancebo raffled off beautiful decor pieces and there was a huge turn out. Many SCIP Young Leaders helped out at the event to make it a huge success. By raffling, Young Leaders had an opportunity to network with many corporate individuals. It was a great experience for those who attended.

Food For Thought

Issue No. 4

July 25-28, 2016

Features

Alexandra Walsh

Advice

“Be the best you can be, but set realistic expectations.”

- Jen Slaw

Insight

SCIP Alumnus, Alexandra Walsh, joins us for the summer. Walsh is attending college in the upcoming fall and will be majoring in business.

“I wasn’t SCIPing out on coming back this summer. I love helping out all the Young Leaders and sharing my experiences before I leave for college.”

- Alexandra Walsh

Presents

*Annual Golf Classic
Fundraising Event
Ballyowen Golf Course*

Monday, August 15th, 2016

Shotgun Start at 9:00 A.M.

Driving Range and Breakfast at 7:45 A.M.

Crystal Springs Resort, Hamburg, N.J.

#1 Public Golf Course in N.J. and U.S. Top 50

www.crystalgolfresort.com/golf/courses/ballyowen/

WWW.SCIPLEADERS.ORG

@scipleaders

For additional info: Miguel Mancebo, 646-236-4289 e-mail miguel@jobfirm.com
Register@<http://scips-annual-golf-classic-fundraising-2016.eventbrite.com>

Enlighten. Employ. Empower.

Save The Date

Family And Friends Event

Hosted By Microsoft

Thursday
August 11 th
5:00 - 7:30 PM

Microsoft Technology Center
11 Times Square, New York,
NY 10036

@scipleaders | Facebook | Twitter | Instagram | LinkedIn